

Le Chandeleur

Also called Crêpe Day, la Chandeleur is a French holiday during which people traditionally eat crêpes.

It is often associated with the Catholic holiday of Candlemas – 40 days after Christmas. (2nd February)

Come to D37 at break on Friday 1st February and ask for a Crêpe in French or give us a sentence in French and if you impress us, you can have a free crêpe!

It celebrates the return of sunny days (crêpes symbolize the sun).

Making crêpes using flour left over from the harvest ensures prosperity in the coming year.
